"Young man, I tell you to get up."

These Sundays of Ordinary Time will not appear every year, since the great solemnities of Pentecost, Trinity and Corpus Christi will displace them. So it can be a bit of an abrupt jump back into the pattern of readings for this season – not readings chosen to celebrate a particular feast or mystery, but the Sunday by Sunday continuous reading of the Gospel and Apostolic Letters. So this Sunday we drop back into Saint Luke's Gospel with the dramatic story of the raising of the widow's son in the town of Nain. A 'theme' that can unite the scriptures today is found in the psalm: "For me you have changed my mourning into dancing." Our faith is that the death and resurrection of Jesus has changed death forever – just as both Jesus and Elijah changed it in the stories read today. Christians will mourn the death of loved ones, just as Jesus himself wept over his friend Lazarus: but Christian mourning, while acknowledging grief, will also contain - in Jesus - the hope of dancing, the hope of life, the hope of resurrection, as revealed in the stories we hear today

First Reading: Kings 17:17-24

Responsorial Psalm: I will praise you, Lord, you have rescued me.

Second Reading: Galatians 1:11-19

Gospel: Luke 7:11-17

477 What does it mean to learn from Jesus how to pray?

Learning from Jesus how to pray means entering into his boundless trust, joining in his prayer, and being led by him, step by step, to the Father.

(2607-2614, 2621)

The disciples, who lived in community with Jesus, learned to pray by listening to and imitating Jesus, whose whole life was prayer. Like him, they had to be watchful and strive for purity of heart, to give up everything for the coming of God's kingdom, to forgive their enemies, to trust boldly in God, and to love him above all things. By this example of devotion, Jesus invited his disciples to say to God Almighty "Abba, dear Father". If we pray in the Spirit of Jesus, especially the Lord's Prayer, we will walk in Jesus' shoes and can be sure that we will arrive unfailingly in the heart of the Father.

Five to One

I pray for every man in church
I thank the Lord they've come
But why have all the ladies
Outshone them five to one.
I thank the Lord for ladies
They are the ones who search
Where would we be without them
So many run the church.
The ladies shine for Jesus
One touched Him in the street
Another met Him at the well
Another washed His feet.
A church needs every lady
They help the church survive
They keep the churches open
And the love of Christ alive.
That's why I pray for every man
But God knows how and when
I thank him for the ladies
But my prayer is for the men
